I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see. As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent. Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.

Revelation 3:18-20 KJV

Of the seven churches Jesus Christ told John to pen letters from Him to, the church at Laodicea was by far in the worst shape. They were indifferent in their love and service to God. Even worse, they were arrogant, thinking that they already had everything they needed and were doing just fine. They received a stark warning from God to change their ways. Though the Bible does not tell us how they responded, it is interesting to note that archaeologists have found the remains of nearly two dozen churches and chapels in the ruins of Laodicea, which was destroyed by a massive earthquake almost six hundred years after John wrote Revelation. It may well be that they heeded the warning and changed their ways, spreading the gospel to others even in the face of persecution.

The Lord loves us too much to allow us to continue living in a sinful way without bringing chastening and rebuke into our lives. We may be tempted to think God is being harsh or cruel, but in reality His discipline is for our own good. And when He does He is offering us the opportunity to repent. He is knocking on the door, waiting for us to open it and restore our fellowship and close relationship with Him. God does not hold grudges, and while sometimes the consequences of a sin linger, the closeness of our relationship with Him is immediately restored when we repent, confess, and forsake our sin.

Be quick to respond to God's warning or correction. He is always ready to forgive and restore

Kids Want To Know ...

Little James, 4 years old, was listening closely as his dad read him a Bible story.
(Genesis 19:1-38)

After his dad read, "Lot was warned to take his wife and flee out of the city and not to look back, but his wife looked back and was turned to salt." James asked, "What happened to the flea??"

"If Ye Bite and Devour"

You, my brothers and sisters, were called to be free. But do not use your freedom to Indulge the flesh, rather, serve one another humbly in love. For the entire law is fulfilled in keeping this one command: "Love your neighbor as yourself."

Galatians 5:13-14 NIV

The reasons people have conflict are varied, but the results of an unresolved issue spread beyond the original participants and affect the lives of others as well. Constantly criticizing and running down others tears apart any human group—whether a family or a church—and leaves behind wreckage and ruin. Our words have great power, It is crucial that we use them to build up and strengthen rather than tearing down others.

Paul wrote, "Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers" (Ephesians 4:29). Every day we have the choice of being harsh and critical or being kind and loving, and we must make the right choice.

Knowing we will give account for our words and their impact should lead us to be kind and encouraging to others.

Paul Chappell

Have a wonderful day!
