Our Source Of Strength

Hast thou not known? Hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the LORD, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? There is no searching of his understanding. He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaseth strength. Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall: But they that wait upon the LORD shall renew their strength; They shall mount up with wings as eagles; They shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.

Isaiah 40:28-31 KJV

All of us know what it feels like to be exhausted when we reach the point where we are so physically, mentally, emotionally, and spiritually drained that there seems to be nothing left. All of us know what it is like to face a mountain of things that need to be done, when it feels like even starting one part of the list is more than we can manage. As we get older, many of us find that things we once used to be able to do are now more difficult, if we can even do them at all. When those moments come, when we are discouraged and tempted to quit or think we can't go on, we must remember to turn to God for help. God is the source of strength for everything that we do. He has an unlimited supply, and those who come to Him for help are never turned away empty-handed. The psalmist wrote of God, "Who satisfieth thy mouth with good things; so that thy youth is renewed like the eagle's" (Psalm 103:5). Eagles are large birds. The bald eagle has a wingspan between six and eight feet. As powerful as their wings are, much of the eagles flying is not done by flapping their wings, but by riding the currents in the air that hold them aloft and lift them up. God's power holds up those who wait on Him regardless of what they face.

God's power can uphold us in any situation, and He is always available to those who wait on Him.

In the Likeness of God

As I stood in front of the mirror this morning to comb my hair, I raised the comb to my temple, I saw my mother's face in my reflection. People often tell me I look like her, but this morning it was clear to me too. My small eyes, round nose and cheekbones were inherited from my mother. I was so moved by our uncanny resemblance this poem line came to mind

“The matter is out my hands.

I am my mother — all over again.”

To see my mother in my very own features called to mind scriptures in Genesis. They tell us we are made in the divine likeness of God and His Son. We should reflect the image of our Lord, because we are created so, the Lord should see himself in the way we work our jobs, love the people in our communities and care for our families.

Jesus told the disciples to be like Him and emulate Him. He said “I have set you an example that you should do as I have done for you. John 13:15 NIV)

Each day, as we live to meet our personal needs and those of our family, there is also the body of Christ that deserves our attention and care. Responding like Jesus. Where can we offer service or kindness to someone else? For us as believers, created in the Lord's image, loving others is our family crest. Jesus is trusting that our neighbors will encounter His love in our eyes, and through the actions in our lives.

— Alice Thompson

Have a wonderful day!
