Diseases of The Blood

Blood is a vital part of the body's proper functioning. It performs several critical actions. I want to focus on three particular roles that blood fills. First, blood serves to clean the body. As the blood courses through every part of the body, it collects the waste byproducts of the cells and carries the waste to the organs that dispose of them. (For in-depth discussion of the cleansing work of the blood, I recommend Fearfully and Wonderfully Made, by Paul Brand and Philip Yancey.) The blood also provides a protective shield. White blood cells work to attack and neutralize foreign agents that might cause harm to the body, while platelets gather around open wounds and clot together to try and block the breach. In addition, the blood essentially delivers life to the cells of the body. Red blood cells carry the life-giving, life-sustaining oxygen the body needs to keep going.

When diseases or conditions diminish the proper functioning of the blood, serious problems arise. When the red blood cells become inefficient in the delivery of oxygen, anemia results, producing weakness and vulnerability. When the white blood cells are not produced in sufficient amounts, the body becomes vulnerable to infection and cannot effectively fight off disease. And when the blood ceases to cleanse the cells, toxic waste byproducts build up and create unhealthy conditions.

Now, imagine that society is like a body. In a sense, Christians are meant to function like the blood of that body. We should be circulating through society, carrying out the roles of blood: being a cleansing agent, being a protective and healing agent, and being delivery agents of life.

So what happens if the Church (collectively) becomes unable to perform those functions because of disease (immorality and sinfulness) or conditions (apathy, coldness of heart, etc.)? Will not the body (society) suffer as a result?

Could this be the real reason that society seems to be deteriorating so rapidly, that the moral climate of our age is so corrupted? If the "blood" is not being a cleansing, purifying agent, will not the "body" become more and more impure and corrupt? If the "blood" is not providing the protective and healing presence of righteousness, will not the "body" become more and more vulnerable to evil influence, and more firmly positioned as the object of God's wrath? And if the "blood" is not delivering the message of life, will not the "body" become weaker and weaker, even unto death?

This is why 2 Chronicles 7:14 (NIV) reads the way it does: If my people, who are called by my name, will humble themselves and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven and will forgive their sin and will heal their land.

It is the condition of God's people that determines God's attitude toward the nation. It is God's people that are called to repentance, to prayer, to holiness. Only when God's people are in the right condition that will they be the truly positive influence on society that they are called to be.

May we who call ourselves God's people recognize the need for repentance and holiness, so that God will be glorified in us, and so that our society will be blessed and served by our presence.

Matching Gift from John Deere

Our Sunshine farmers have been contacted by John Deere, Inc., (the national manufacturing company) and they have offered to match every dollar produced in the crop program (for 2012 = $5000) so that the amount our Sunshine farmers send will be doubled. Furthermore, the John Deere company has also agreed to match what others add to the amount of the soybean sale. Between now and February 3 any money which we add to the total will be matched by John Deere. Checks can be made out to the church (put in labeled envelope or write in memo section) and will be transferred to the Crop Program to boost the total for 2012. This year's help will go to help educate and financially underwrite farmers in Haiti.
