The Best Shave Ever

The cancer had come back, and the outlook was bleak. "I know you're busy with the holidays and all," Mom had said, "But I think Dad would like to see you." She didn't have to finish the sentence, I was on the next plane.

You're never quite prepared to see your father in the hospital. You'd rather be bowling, or golfing, or working in the garden together -- anywhere else. That was in the past now. He smiled when I came into the room. "I'm glad you came, Son." I leaned over his bed and gave him a hug, careful not to hurt him. We had never been hugging men; but that, too, was in the past now. "I'm glad I'm here."

We talked nonstop. It was unusual for us. In the past we could spend hours side by side, and just a few words would suffice. Now the shared memories came spilling out as we put the finishing touches on our relationship. There was a procession of visitors -- neighbors, friends, his pastor, even one of my old girl friends. Everyone had a story, and it surprised me how much laughter and how little sadness was in the room.

The two days went too quickly. I stopped in at the hospital before heading to the airport. We were quieter. The words weren't necessary for what we had begun to feel. "I'll have to be going in a little while."

"I know. It's OK, Son. It was good to see you."

"Can I do anything for you before I go, Dad?"

He hesitated, then said: "Yes, would you be willing to give me a shave? I haven't had a good shave since I got to the hospital."

I was stunned. As a child I loved to watch my daddy shave. We'd stand in the bathroom in our underwear. He'd lather up and then soap my face just like his. And while he shaved, I pretended. It was a bonding that I had all but forgotten. Now he was asking me for a shave.

I found his old razor and shaving cream in the kit he had brought with him -- they were so familiar even after all these years. I filled a bowl with hot water and found a face cloth. With the bed raised, the pillow fluffed

Please Pray For:

For our nation as we are going through troubled times

For our national leaders and world leaders as they lead their respective nations.

For our troops in Afghanistan, Bosnia, Korea, Iraq, Liberia, Haiti and other places.

For the innocent who are suffering in the midst of war.

For the "people in the box"-- the lost in our families and community.

For those who are being martyred and persecuted for Christ in our own time

For marriage to stand in our laws as God ordained it.

For the church in Siliguri and Naresh Chhetri and Ashok Basor

For the churches in Honduras and Haiti who partner with us in the gospel

Larry Mooneyham Derrick's brother in Spencer, TN) had surgery for a broken back on last week.

John Gampp still having problems with dizziness, balance and strength in legs.

Henry Mason (Gene and Esther Crisp's son) back on radiation and chemo.

Peggy Hollback small improvements coming week by week.

Charlie Perry (Candi Gampp's stepfather) heart attack early this week. In Cabell Huntington.

Clyde Ball's cataract surgery postponed to June 20.

Mark Kingery (42 yr old friend of Laryssa Grashel) undergoing tests for heart problems.

Mary Francis Kitchen (Clyde Ball's cousin) final stages of cancer. Very weak.

Gavin Rupp a recurrence of tumors in the brain. Under hospice care.

Stanley and Georgia Richards (friends of Chuck Allison) seriously injured in a motorcycle accident this past week. Stanley was taken to the Cabell Huntington Trauma Unit.

Tornado victims, families, rescue/relief workers in Oklahoma. See below for a way to contribute to relief work.

Connie Eckhart (Price Gammon's sister in NC) had heart surgery last week.

Al Graff facing a couple different surgeries in near future.

Angie Arnett (39 year old mother of 2) diagnosed with malignant melanoma.

Sew You Care Day Change

Oklahoma Tornado Relief Work

The Oakcrest church of Christ in Oklahoma City, OK is spearheading efforts to provide relief and support for those affected by the recent tornado. If you would like to contribute to the money being collected to help, go to www.oakcrestchurch.com and follow the instructions. Also, just a reminder that we support the Disaster Relief Effort based in Nashville to help with situations like this one. Your contributions there will also help provide support for the tornado victims. www.disasterreliefeffort.org will provide information on how to contribute.

Camp Applications Available

Camper applications and health forms are now available in the foyer by the main doors (fire extinguisher). Both an application and a health form must be filled out for each camper. You can also register for camp online by going to the camp's website.

Rentals Needed

- Columbus Couple looking for 1 or 2 bedroom house in the country that allows pets. They are on fixed income so cheaper the better.
- The Bradshaw family of 4 is looking for a 3 bedroom house in the Lucasville or Minford area for cheap. See Dee or David Bradshaw for details.

Soy Bean Report

Our Sunshine farmers have the crop in the ground and the sprouts are already visible. Thanks to the guys who got the ground ready and did the planting. Check with Mark Risner for up-to-the-minute reports. The proceeds from the sale of this crop will fund the World Food Resource program which teaches Third World farmers how to grow better crops. This program operates completely outside the church's budget.

- VBS Meeting Today

For all guides and support workers for VBS. In the annex 5 minutes after the AM service. If you miss today, we will repeat this meeting next Sunday morning. This meeting is especially important if you are a guide.

- VBS Student Sign Up

The pads are laid out on the table in the foyer. For our own kids, the only thing you need to do is sign them up on the pad for their age/grade level. Please note that for VBS we are using the grade to which the child has just been promoted. For kids who are visitors, sign them up on the pad and take a Registration Card to their parents. Have the parents fill out the card and bring it with them the first night of VBS. We are running attendance contests this year and your guest will count every night they attend. The class with the most total visitors throughout Mon-Thur will get to spray Count VBS with cans of silly string on Thursday night.

- VBS Guides and Support Workers

We are now signing up teens and adults to work during VBS. There is a big grid on the window in the foyer where you can sign up for specific duties and days of VBS. Also, we need workers for the Program and Picnic Friday evening.

- Change in VBS Program

This year there will be a change in location for the inflatables for the VBS program. In the past we have set up on the blacktop to the south of the building. The blacktop makes it hard to anchor the inflatables and also is very hot on the kids feet. This year the inflatables will be set up in the field behind the church building. This move has been made possible by some additional electrical wiring installed along the back and side of the church building. This change will also allow us to use the big tent for shade for our visitors and for our shaved ice stand. Thanks to Ryan Coriell, Tom Kallner and Jacob Miller for getting the wiring in place.

- VBS Cookies Needed

There is a signup sheet in the foyer for those willing to bake or buy cookies for VBS. For each time you sign you are committing to 5 dozen cookies. Sign up for the day(s) you would be willing to commit.

Elm Grove Ladies Day

September 21, the ladies of the Elm Grove church will be having a "ladies" day. Check the bulletin board for details

Shepherd's Prayer Session

This Thursday at 7:30 pm. Get your requests to one of the elders right away.

The Best Shave Ever

and a towel spread under his chin to keep him dry, I began the ritual. First the face cloth, warmed with the hot water, wrung out and held gently to his face to soften the whiskers. Then a little bit of water on the face to receive the cream. When I opened the tube, it was the same aroma I remembered as a child. Dad's eyes were closed but he was clearly enjoying this. I spread the cream and prepared the razor. I was so afraid that I would cut him. He was so trusting. Dip the razor in the water, shave a few strokes. Dip, shave. Dip, shave. It didn't take that long. When we finished shaving, I got some clean hot water and washed his face. He put his hand up and felt his face and smiled. I handed him the mirror and he took a long, satisfied look. "Son, that's the best shave ever. Thanks!"

Soon it was time to go. We hugged, gently. "I love you, Dad." "I love you too, Son." We had only lately learned to say that. It felt good. What felt better was the trust that had finally established itself between us -- a trust that had made it possible for a son to give his father the best shave ever. It is a wonderful memory. Love is like that -- born in due season of common things made holy by the amazing grace and surprising presence of God.
