About Mother's Day

The year was 1908, just a little more than two years since Anna Jarvis had lost her mother. Still grieving and struggling for some way to honor her mother, she held a ceremony in Grafton, West Virginia. She was so moved by what she experienced that she embarked on a national campaign to have our country honor the many contributions that mothers make. In 1910, West Virginia became the first state to celebrate Mother's Day and a year later, most of the country's other states officially set aside the day as well. The momentum was too great for President Wilson to refuse Jarvis' quest to honor her own mother by designating a day each year for all of us to honor our mothers.

Anna Jarvis spent the rest of her life trying to undo what she had done. Enraged by the commercialization that an entrepreneurial America developed for Mothers Day, Jarvis filed a lawsuit in 1923 to stop a Mother's Day festival. She was later arrested for disturbing the peace when she learned that a war mother's convention was selling white carnations—Jarvis' symbol for mothers—to raise money. "This is not what I intended," Jarvis said. "I wanted it to be a day of sentiment, not profit!"

History wasn't very kind to Anna Jarvis. She had obviously started something that she couldn't stop. She died at 84, never a mother herself, a woman of strange irony. In fact, she spent the most of the fortune her own mother left her to fight a holiday she created to honor her. Just before her death, Jarvis told a reporter she regretted she had ever started Mothers Day. What's equally ironic is she made that comment from her room in a nursing home, a room that had been filled with cards every Mother's Day honoring her for what she had done.

Jarvis was right. Mothers Day is way too commercial. I don't have a mother to go visit and tell her how much I appreciate her, how much I love her, but if I did I'm not sure I would just say it through a card or a dozen roses. I think I'd just look her right in the eye on Sunday morning and tell her how much I love her, how grateful I was for all that she had done for me.

"May she who gave you birth rejoice." (Proverbs 23:25)

Food for the McCray's

They are also planning to have a BABY SHOWER for Skarleth Avila with the Breaking Chains ministry in Honduras. She is 21 and expecting a boy around June 22nd. Please bring your donations to the building no later than next Sunday, May 10.

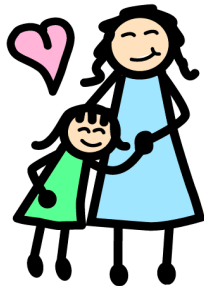

VBS Flyers Available

On the table in the foyer flyers for VBS are laid out. All you teachers and coaches and scout leaders are invited to take a bundle and give them to the kids in your class or group. We'll be loading people on the wagon about 10:30 am across from Desco Bank. If you have a tractor, truck, car, 4 wheeler, scout troop, etc., you would like to enter in the parade, please pick up a Registration Form from the table in the foyer and send it in right away.

Memorial Day Presentation

On Sunday, May 24, at the conclusion of our services we will be presenting a video-music presentation honoring the veterans who are connected with the Sunshine church. If you would like to add, delete or update a picture in the presentation from last year, get it to Al Graff, no later than Sunday, May 17.

Thank You

A big thank you to the congregation from Ronnie and Helen Hardin for all the prayers, cards, etc., during his recent health issues and all the help with the house due to the house fire last month. May God bless all of you for being so kind.

Aid For Nepal

Many of you have heard about the recent devastating earthquake in Nepal. Michael Brooks and the Highland Park Church of Christ have been working with churches in Nepal for almost 25 years and are coordinating efforts to get aid to the Christians affected by the quake. Sunshine has worked with the Highland Park congregation in the past on other projects. There is a letter posted on the bulletin board with more details and an address where you can send contributions. You may also give your contribution to Tom Kelley and he will make sure it gets to them.
