Soon after arriving at Sunshine, the deacons approached me about a radio ministry opportunity they wished to pursue. They had in mind a one minute spot on the local radio station, WNXT FM 99.3. After initial discussions with Gabe, and letting him know I've had experience in this area before, the decision to move forward was tabled, allowing me the opportunity to get settled.

After the first of the year, Gabe and I began discussing once again the possibility of a Sunshine voice on the radio. I started listening to The Mix on 99.3 because a couple of other churches/preachers were on the radio too. I tuned into their programs. They were very biblical, and their approach might be classified under a mini-Bible study. They talked exclusively about the verse(s) before them and less about life application.

Religious voices on the radio (or TV for that matter) can easily be flooded, then your voice gets lost amidst the other voices. How many religious programs and preachers are on TV/radio? How do you separate your voice from the other voices? As I reflected on giving Sunshine a distinctive voice on the radio I remembered a popular radio program in Memphis during the 90's. The Methodist minister offered a one minute upbeat message every weekday, and made sure his church's name was associated with his recording. His radio spot was located on the most popular station in Memphis, a country radio station.

So I made a sample recording of what might be found on the radio and presented it to the deacons. With the "go ahead," I went down to the radio station and met with Steve Hayes, the Operations Manager. We discussed the format and logistics of the program. We agreed to a one minute program on a floating time that will play sometime between 6:00 am and 10:00 am and then 2:00 pm and 6:00 pm. As a bonus, he threw in playing a repeat program during the daytime on Saturday, between 10:00am— 2:00pm.

I've called the radio program, "Ray of Hope," for two reasons. First, I want to play off our church's name of Sunshine. The sun's rays are always warm and inviting, and I wanted people who listened to the program to feel that warmth. Thus, leading to the second reason for the name, I want to focus on hope. People who chose to tune in to the program may be looking for hope. I don't want to bang them over the head and be heavy handed with either Scripture or doctrine. I have the audience for one minute, and if they are listening to me I want them to feel hope not hopelessness.

The program went on air beginning in March and its initial commitment concludes at the end of the month. Because we didn't make any big announcement ahead of time, I've been pleased by the response, both by Sunshine members and people in the community. "Hey, did I hear you on the radio?" has been a common conversation starter I've encountered.

While I don't know how long the radio ministry will continue, one thing is for certain. I want Sunshine Church to always offer a Ray of Hope to Scioto County and beyond.

Soli Deo Gloria!

Have a wonderful day! :)
