HOW should we love one another?

Dear friends, let us love one another, for love comes from God. Everyone who loves has been born of God and knows God. Whoever does not love does not know God, because God is love. This is how God showed his love among us: He sent his one and only Son into the world that we might live through him. This is love: not that we loved God, but that he loved us and sent his Son as an atoning sacrifice for our sins. Dear friends, since God so loved us, we also ought to love one another. I John 4:7-10 NIV

In our spoken English today, when we say the word love, what do we mean? We can "love" our spouse and children, or we can "love" our dogs and cats, or we can "love" a well-cooked meal or a beautiful sunset. The English word love can carry all those meanings depending on the context. The language that John used (Greek) was much more specific. When John used the word love in this passage, he used the word agape. That was the word for the self-sacrificial love that Jesus demonstrated on the cross. It is a love that wants the very best for the person who is the object of that love.

God is the greatest example of love. He IS love. He showed that love to us by sending Jesus to die on the cross for us so that we might live in HIM.

Agape is a love that thinks of others before self. It is a love expressed in action. It is a giving of ourselves for the good of others. One Biblical example of this type of love is Jonathan.

Saul's anger flared up at Jonathan and he said to him, "You son of a perverse and rebellious woman! Don't I know that you have sided with the son of Jesse to your own shame and to the shame of the mother who bore you? As long as the son of Jesse lives on this earth, neither you nor your kingdom will be established. Now send someone to bring him to me, for he must die!" "Why should he be put to death? What has he done?" Jonathan asked his father. But Saul hurled his spear at him to kill him. Then Jonathan knew that his father intended to kill David. Jonathan got up from the table in fierce anger; on that second day of the feast he did not eat, because he was grieved at his father's shameful treatment of David. I Samuel 20:30-34

Jonathan was the son of Saul and was the heir to the throne. God had already rejected Saul and Samuel had anointed David as the next king of Israel. Jonathan knew that God was with David and may have even known that David would be the next king. Jonathan and David had agape (selfless) action love for each other. Jonathan risked death to help and stand up for David even though it would mean that he would never be the king.

When we think about our love for each other in the church, how do we view that love? Do we look at each other and call each other friend or are we willing to sacrifice for each other? Are we willing to share our lives with one another and love as God loves us? How would our relationships with each other (and with our spouse) be different if we would each strive to practice this selfless type of action love? Is that something that those in the world around us would notice and want to be part of?

“A new command I give you: Love one another. As I have loved you, so you must love one another. By this everyone will know that you are my disciples, if you love one another.” John 13:34-35 When we love each other with the selfless love that Jesus had for us (agape love) then people will know that we are different and disciples of Jesus. They will not know we are disciples if we are “friends” with one another. They will not know that we are disciples if we “like” one another. They will not know that we are disciples if we say, “Hi, how are you doing today?” When we love each other with the love of Christ, THEN people will know that we are HIS disciples. It is the practice of this true selfless agape love that makes Christians different.

How do YOU think that we should love each other?

David Deacon

Have a wonderful day!
