What do you think about?

Finally, brothers and sisters, whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable—if anything is excellent or praiseworthy—think about such things. Philippians 4:8 NIV

When Paul wrote to the church at Philippi, he encouraged the Christians there to think about good things. As we go through our life, there are hundreds of times each day when we let our mind think about things. These could be times while we are driving, waiting in line at the store or waiting for a call or meeting. What do we think about? We can think about how the driver in front of us cut us off, or we can think about the beauty of God's creation around us. We could think about how the line should be moving faster, or we could think about the blessings of all the things in our cart. We could think about the inconsiderate person who called a meeting during our busiest time of the week, or we could be thinking about how God has blessed our life with a job and the ability to do it well. What we think about goes much deeper than these idle moments in our day.

Blessed is the one who does not walk in step with the wicked or stand in the way that sinners take or sit in the company of mockers, but whose delight is in the law of the LORD, and who meditates on his law day and night. That person is like a tree planted by streams of water, which yields its fruit in season and whose leaf does not wither— whatever they do prospers. Psalms 1:1-3

In the church, we emphasize Bible study and prayer. While these are definitely important, we also need to think about how what we read applies to our life. The meditation of our heart is the time that we apply God's word to the circumstances of our life. The author of Psalm 1 understood the significance of this meditation. We need to do more than just know what is in the Bible; we need to understand how to apply it to our life.

Great is the LORD and most worthy of praise; his greatness no one can fathom. One generation commends your works to another; they tell of your mighty acts. They speak of the glorious splendor of your majesty— and I will meditate on your wonderful works. They tell of the power of your awesome works— and I will proclaim your great deeds. Psalms 145:3-6

We also need to meditate on what God does for us. This passage talks about all the work that God has done for His people and how this knowledge is passed down from generation to generation. What has God done for us and how has He worked in our lives? We need to see the God of history and praise Him for what He has done for us, but we also need to meditate on the God of the present who is working in our lives today.

I rise before dawn and cry for help; I have put my hope in your word. My eyes stay open through the watches of the night, that I may meditate on your promises. Hear my voice in accordance with your love; preserve my life, LORD, according to your laws. Psalms 119:147-149

God has given us His very great and precious promises concerning life in Him. It is important that we meditate on His promises for tomorrow that we may have peace in our life today.

The Oyster

There once was an oyster whose story I tell,
Who found that sand had gotten under his shell;
Just one little grain, but it gave him much pain,
For oysters have feelings although they're so plain.
Now, did he berate the working of fate
Which had led him to such a deplorable state?
Did he spend endless hours in self-pitying reflection
Did he curse out the government, call for an election?
No, as he lay on the shelf, he said to himself;
"If I cannot remove it, I'll improve it."
So the years rolled by as years always do,
And he came to his ultimate destiny - in a pot of stew!
The small grain of sand which had bothered him so,
Became a beautiful pearl, all richly aglow.
Now- this tale has a moral- for isn't it grand
What one little oyster can do with a morsel of sand?
What couldn't we do if we'd only begin
With all of the things that get under our skin?
