Job's Trust In God, How About Us?

I was reading through the book of Job the other day. While I read this book many times as a kid, I never really focused on what it said.

As the story goes, one day the Devil comes to the Lord after a stroll on earth and the Lord says, "Have you considered My servant, Job... a blameless and upright man" (1:8). The Devil then says, well of course he is a great guy, you have blessed everything about him, if you mess up his life, he will curse you to your face. The Lord takes him up on this offer. After reading in depth, I realized how all of the trials came upon Job.

In chapter 1:13-19, yes, in just 7 verses Job loses everything, except his bodily life. Now directly after losing everything, Job simply throws a little fit. It is important to notice that he did not "sin nor charge God with wrong" (1:22).

It is amazing the trust Job has in God; he loses everything, and even has the mindset to say "Blessed be the name of the Lord" (1:21).

So what do you think Satan does? He gives it a second shot, God allows it, and Job gets very painful boils from head to toe. At one point, he took a broken piece of pottery and scraped the boils while he sat in the ashes. His wife said to just curse God and be done with it. But Job responded by saying, since we accept well from God, why can we not accept adversity? (2:10).

He once again accepted this adversity without one sin from his lips.

I have a great respect for Job and a desire to have the trust in God that Job had during his trials. This world has trained us to think that we are on our own. It is human instinct to fix it ourselves, but when in reality it is not even our choice what happens, it is God's.

We must put our trust in God and pray for His will to be done. We saw Job put his trust in God and he is returned double what he had.

The world will always tell us that putting our trust in God will not work, as it was portrayed to Jesus on the cross when they mocked Him in Matthew 27:43, saying "He trusted in God; let Him deliver Him now if He will have Him." They said that putting His trust in God was asking for failure, but they soon found out that is the way to go.

The same applies to us today, our trust in God may not always be easy, but it is definitely what we need to do as Christians.

How about us? Are we trusting God?

God Loves You and We Love You Too

My Influence

My life shall touch a dozen lives
Before this day is done;
Leave countless marks for good or ill
Ere sets the evening sun.

So this the wish I always wish,
The prayer I ever pray;
"Lord, may my life help others lives
It touches along the way.

I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good, therefore that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow being, let me do it now. Let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again.

Start From Here

Lord, what do You want me to do? Acts 9:6

On June 6, 1944, three American officers huddled in a bombshell crater on Utah Beach in Normandy, France. Realizing the tide had carried them to the wrong place on the beach, the trio made an impromptu decision: "We'll start the battle from right here." They needed to move forward from a difficult starting point.

Saul found himself in a difficult place, needing to make a decision after meeting Jesus on the road on the road to Damascus (Acts 9:1-20). Suddenly, the location and direction of his life was revealed to him as a mistake, his prior life perhaps even feeling like a waste. Moving forward would be difficult and would require hard and uncomfortable work, perhaps even facing the Christian families whose lives he had torn apart. But he responded, "Lord, what do You want me to do?"

We often find ourselves in unexpected places, places we never planned nor wanted to be. We may be drowning in debt, inhibited by physical barriers, or suffering under the weight of sin's consequences. Whether Christ finds us this day in a prison cell or a palace, whether He finds us broken and broke or absorbed by our own selfish desires, Scripture tells us to heed Paul's advice to forget what lies behind and to press forward toward Christ (Phil.3:13-14) The past is no barrier to moving forward with Him.

Are you paralyzed by your past? Have you drifted away from Christ? Or perhaps never even met Him? Today is the day to begin anew with Christ, even if you've tried and failed before.

It's not too late for a fresh start. Start from here.

Have a wonderful day!
