Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated unto the gospel of God, (Which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures,) Concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh; And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead: Romans 1:1-4 KJV

The events that unfolded during the life and ministry of Jesus were not accidental. Hundreds and even thousands of years before His coming, the Old Testament prophets had foretold the time and place of His birth, His sacrificial death, and His resurrection. Every single one of those prophecies was fulfilled to the letter. The evidence that Jesus was the Messiah was indisputable. Beyond the prophetic promises there were also the numerous miracles that Jesus performed—things that were utterly impossible for a human being to do. Yet, even with all of this evidence, there were many who did not accept Him. Even Jesus' own brothers did not believe He was the Messiah until after He was raised from the dead.

Today, we have not only the Old Testament Scriptures but the completed Bible, including the details of the life of Christ that those people did not have. Yet today there are still people who refuse to believe the account of the Bible and the core truth that Jesus is the only hope of salvation.

The Apostle Paul devoted his life to sharing the gospel with others, and each Christian is called to that task as well. God has chosen us specifically for this task. "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you" (John 15:16). The necessity of sharing the gospel is not just for a select few pastors, missionaries, and Christian workers, but for every child of God. We are to take what we have received and share it with others.

God commands each of His children to be part of His plan to spread the gospel around the world.

Then they will call to me, but I will not answer; they will look for me but will not find me: since they hated knowledge, and did not choose to fear the LORD: Since they would not accept my advice and spurned my rebuke, Therefore shall they eat of the fruit of their own way, and be filled with their own devices.
Proverbs 1:28-31 NIV

Few of the problems we face as a result of disobedience to God come about because we were not aware of what was right and what was wrong. When there are decisions that must be made, we find that the Word of God contains commandments and principles to help guide us. God's directives are not given to harm us or keep us from enjoying good things. Instead, they are warnings that protect us from danger. If we reject God's instructions, we should not be surprised when the results are not what we expect. As the old saying goes, "We are not responsible for failures from advice not followed." We have a choice when we approach the issues of life. We can go our own way ignoring what God has said, but we have been warned of the consequences that will surely follow. "There is a way which appears to be right, but in the end it leads to death." (Proverbs 14:12).

God's ways and wisdom are always superior to our own, and we benefit by seeking and following them.
