And Joshua said unto Achan, My son, give, I pray thee, glory to the LORD God of Israel, and make confession unto him; and tell me now what thou hast done; hide it not from me. And Achan answered Joshua, and said, Indeed I have sinned against the LORD God of Israel, and thus and thus have I done: When I saw among the spoils a goodly Babylonish garment, and two hundred shekels of silver, and a wedge of gold of fifty shekels weight, then I coveted them, and took them; and, behold, they are hid in the earth in the midst of my tent, and the silver under it.

Joshua 7:19-21 KJV

Longtime reporter for the San Diego Union Tribune Tom Blair became noted as a columnist, but he began his career covering county and city political gatherings and court cases. He told the story how at one of the early trials he attended, two men were accused of having taken part in an armed robbery. The prosecutor was questioning an eyewitness. "So, you say you were at the scene when the robbery took place?" "Yes." "And you saw a vehicle leave at a high rate of speed?" "Yes." "And did you observe the occupants?" "Yes, two men." "And," the prosecutor asked, "Are those two men present in court today?" Blair reported that it was at that point both men raised their hands. The case concluded almost immediately with a guilty verdict. The natural tendency of people ever since Adam and Eve has been to try to shift the blame and make excuses rather than admitting what they have done wrong. The attempts people have made through the years to hide their sin and avoid dealing with it have had tragic consequences, like David compounding his sin with Bathsheba by having her husband murdered.

It is impossible to begin to deal with sin until we have acknowledged both what we have done, and our responsibility for it. Only then are we ready to receive God's promised forgiveness. "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:9). The Christian who tries to hide his sin from God cannot have the cleansing that only follows confession.

Paul Chappell
