But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for a helmet, the hope of salvation. For God hath not appointed us to suffer wrath, but to receive salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ. He died for us, so that, whether we are awake or asleep, we may live together with him. Therefore encourage one another and build each other up, just as in fact you are doing.

1Thessalonians 5:8-11

In June of 1981, Eugene Lang, who had become a millionaire through his diligence and hard work, was invited to speak to the sixth grade graduating class at his alma mater, PS 121 in Harlem. When one of the teachers told him that three fourths of the students would probably not finish high school, Lang decided to see what he could do to change that. As he addressed the young people, Lang made them a promise: Any member of the class who completed high school and was accepted into college would get a scholarship to make sure they could afford to go. Lang did not just make that promise and then walk away. He developed a mentorship program, met regularly with the students, and encouraged them to keep on going. Eventually, he paid for more than half of those young people to go to college, and he helped many of the ones who did not, find jobs. He made a difference in their lives.

Most of us will never have millions of dollars to give to others, but all of us can be an encouragement to others. It costs nothing to say a kind word, to offer a prayer of support, or to simply stand with someone going through difficulty and let him know that he is not alone. When we look at what God has done for us, it should not be hard for us to extend support and help to others.

When we look at what God has done for us, it should not be hard for us to extend our support and help to others.

One of the best examples from Scripture of someone who made this kind of difference was Barnabas, who encouraged the man who would become the apostle Paul.

Barnabas was such an encourager that, although his name was originally "Joseph," the apostles surnamed him Barnabas,

(which is, being interpreted "son of encouragement,)" (Acts 4:36).

It is always the right time to encourage those around us who are struggling.

Paul Chappell
