And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God.

Revelation 21:1-3

Though the Bible tells us with great certainty that Heaven is the eternal destination of the children of God, it does not give us a large amount of detail and description of Heaven. We see glimpses of it, but the fullness of the glory and majesty of Heaven is not possible to put into words. In fact, Paul declared that he was not allowed to share what he had seen when God gave him a preview of what Heaven would be like, possibly when he was stoned and left for dead at Lystra. “How that he was caught up into paradise, and heard unspeakable words, which it is not lawful for a man to utter”. 2 Corinthians 12:4

The glory and beauty of Heaven is not merely in its golden streets or crystal clear river or wall made of precious stones or gates of pearls. The glory and beauty of Heaven is the presence of God Himself. All of eternity will be spent in the place where He is. The cares and pains and heartaches of the world will be left behind to be remembered no more. The need for fervent and urgent prayer will be replaced. The longing for purpose and meaning so many feel will be met by the presence of God. We will no longer need clocks and calendars, for time will reach an end. We will never need a light for Jesus is the constant and unchanging light of Heaven.

Heaven is our eternal home.

The resurrection of Jesus Christ and the faithful promises of God are our assurance that we will spend eternity in His presence in Heaven.

Paul Chappell

Jesus came and stood in our place, taking the penalty of death for sin that was rightly ours on Himself. We have been given life when all we deserved was death. We have been given hope when all we deserved was despair. The task of our lives as children of God is not to earn His approval, for that has already been given to us through grace. Our task is to live in gratitude and obedience toward the One who gave us this incredible gift.

There are opportunities every day for us to give back, and we must take them.

God has given us so much that nothing we give back to Him is too much.
