A Good Man Who Was Lost

At Caesarea there was a man named Cornelius, a devout man who feared God with all his household, gave alms generously to the people, and prayed continually to God. (Acts 10:1-2)

According to a survey taken in 2003, roughly two-thirds of Americans believe they are going to heaven. That same survey revealed that roughly half believed that a person can earn salvation based on good deeds apart from the saving blood of Jesus Christ. Most believe all good people will be-in-heaven and think-they'll-go-there. If this is what you believe, let's stop and think this through. If it is true that we're saved simply because we are "good," then what purpose did Jesus' death on the cross serve? Would it make any logical sense for God to make His only Son endure such cruel punishment if it was unnecessary.

Think about Cornelius. He was a good man. He was devout, feared God, helped the poor and prayed. But he was lost. He had to hear the gospel and obey the good news of Jesus Christ to be saved.

Don't believe the lies of the devil! We all have sinned and deserve to die (Romans 3:23; 6:23). Our only hope of salvation is by Christ's sacrifice, our obedient faith and baptism into His death. Through God's grace we are added to the Church (the Body of Christ) which is what He will be coming back to receive unto Himself. (Eph.2:8-10; Gal.3:26-27),

We can't save ourselves. If we could, then Jesus died in vain.

'Father, we thank You for providing salvation to us through Your Son.'

Without Him we would be hopelessly lost.'

‘Put on the whole armour of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.’

The temptation to go along with the views of the crowd or to water down the message of God to be acceptable to a wider range of people is great, but it must be resisted. God is calling us to stand without wavering, courageously committing to doing what is right no matter what. That is what courage in action does.

Standing firm for what is right does not depend on public opinion or the support of others, but on the Words of God.

God Loves You and We Love You Too
